RAILROAD A NECESSITY.

The settled conviction now prevails that the future development of Amador county depends mainly upon the construction of a railroad. An extension of railroad facilities from Ione to the mining belt will help immensely, but even this will not suffice to open up the resources of the eastern section. In timber, building stone, marble, soapstone and other products, that section is richly endowed. In addition to these products, cheap transportation would stimulate the agricultural and horticultural possibilities of that region in fruit, wine, potatoes, etc. These industries would furnish remunerative employment for a large number of settlers. The need of a railroad in this upper country has been keenly emphasized by the announcement that the Amador Lumber Company—the only saw mill in the eastern half of the county that was kept running last year—will not start work the coming season. The reason for this is that the cost of transportation by freight teams is too great. Besides this, it is next to impossible to get the lumber hauled to the mining towns for the price heretofore paid. It has been found that there is no profit in the business either for the saw mill or the teamsters that carry the product to market. Several of the teamsters have withdrawn from the business, so it is found almost impossible to get the lumber hauled and be able to dispose of it to advantage. It is reported that a committee of competent railroad men will visit the upper country soon, to investigate its resources from a railroad point of view. The residents along the route are a unit in favor of any plan to give them an outlet for their native wealth. A few years back it was not uncommon to hear the voice of dissent raised when a railroad project was mooted. But this spirit is dead; dead for the reason that the occupation of the woodman is disappearing, as the timber line is pushed too far back to be reached with old-fashioned methods of transportation.

The papers in Tuolumne county are advocating bonding the county for the purpose of raising money to improve the highways, and thereby giving employment to the many idle men in the county. The labor troubles which the county has experienced the past year or two, have brought about a business depression. Many men are out of work, and the proposition to issue bonds is urged as a panacea for the resulting hard times. In the San Francisco papers the labor union men have inserted an advertisement as a warning to miners and others to steer clear of Tuolumne, that there are ten men for every job in that county. This is anything but a flattering send-off for the industrial agitators who have brought about such a rapid change from prosperity to adversity.

There are reports in circulation that the route of the proposed electric line from Ione to the mineral belt is to be along Sutter creek to the town of that name, and thence to Jackson, thereby making the distance from Ione to Jackson at least five or six miles greater than to Sutter Creek, whereas the distance to the two towns by way of the national route along the Ione wagon road is about equal. It is hardly conceivable that such an idea—born as it certainly must be from local prejudices—would be entertained for a moment by business men who are expected to invest their capital in the undertaking. The trade of Jackson in passengers and freight will amount to fully one half the entire traffic of the road. To jeopardize this business—or any considerable portion of it—by a circuitous route, or by a failure to build within a short distance of the county seat, would be the height of folly. Even with a terminus a couple of miles from town the saving in cost of freight to Jackson would be so trifling that freight teams would be likely to keep on the road between Jackson and Ione in the summer months while the roads are good, perhaps laying off in the depth of winter when the roads are too heavy to permit of successful competition with the electric line. Our citizens may rest assured that if the proposed railroad is built at all, it will come by the most practical route to command the trade of the most populous center—Jackson. No other proposition is reconcilable with ordinary business sense.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and cause the secretion of mucus, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad indigestion, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

WONDERFUL RADIUM.

Jackonites Get an Opportunity to See this Newly Discovered Metal.
Radium, the newly discovered elementary substance for which is claimed such wonderful powers in the economy of nature and in the world of medicine, was exhibited here for the first time this week. It is said to be the greatest and costliest substance known to science. It is obtained from pitch blende, the richest ores surrendering not to exceed three grains to the ton.

Last Tuesday S. W. Root, of the firm of Keniston & Root, of Los Angeles, dealers in physicians supplies and surgical instruments, exhibited to a number of persons around the National hotel a spinthroscope—a small instrument made expressly for the purpose of showing the emanations of radium. This little instrument is charged with a particle of radium, so small that 400 such atoms could be contained on the point of a needle, requiring a magnifying power of 400 diameters to render the same visible to the naked eye. From such an infinitesimal atom nothing can be seen in daylight. Entering a dark room—such as is used by photographists—and looking through the instrument for a few seconds, a halo of light becomes visible, the light rays appearing to have a wave like motion. It is this peculiarity of sending forth radiations that gives the metal the name of radium. The light is said to be caused by sending forth a stream of minute particles from the metal with inconceivable velocity, the light being supposed to be the effect of the swift motion. Notwithstanding this incessant activity, the radium remains practically undiminished in quantity, as it has been calculated that millions of years would be required to make the least appreciable difference in bulk or weight. Radium rays are said to have both penetrating and burning qualities; hence they can be utilized in surgery and medicine for diagnosis and healing. The X-rays will penetrate opaque bodies—actually lighting up bodies that are impervious to ordinary light. The heat rays are used for the cure of cancer and other diseases. It is for the purpose of introducing the surgical appliances in the use of radium, as well as the ordinary medical supplies, that the representative of the firm of Keniston & Root visited Jackson. He claims that in Los Angeles many wonderful cures have been made with the X-ray and radium outfits.

Railway Projects to Develop Resources of Amador County.

SUTTER CREEK, April 4.—The proposed electric railroad from Ione to Sutter Creek and Jackson is soon to be a reality. San Francisco capitalists have visited this county and have become convinced that to build a railroad to the mineral belt would prove a paying investment. Articles of incorporation of the Amador Traction Company have been filed with the Secretary of State, and the officers are: President, Livingston Jenks; Vice President, H. C. Tilden; Treasurer, James J. Fagan, (Vice-President of the American National Bank of San Francisco and General Manager, Jackson Dennis). All the men named are of San Francisco, excepting Mr. Dennis, who is a banker of Sutter Creek. The directors are: Livingston Jenks, H. C. Tilden, Jas. J. Fagan, C. K. Harley and Jacob Dennis.
The incorporation is for $500,000, there being 5000 shares at $100 each. The directors named are shareholders, but the principal capitalists in the deal are C. K. Harley, H. C. Tilden and Livingston Jenks. The smaller stockholders are of San Francisco and New York. Bonds will be issued, but mostly will be taken up by the directors themselves.

The building of a railway from the terminus of the Southern Pacific to the mineral belt will mean a great deal for the future prosperity of Amador county. The amount of freight now leaving Ione for different towns of the county is something enormous, and has long been evident that the building of a railroad would be a paying investment.

The Amador Traction Company will ask for a franchise to build an electric railway from Ione to Jackson, Sutter Creek, Amador City, Drytown, Plymouth, and Volcano, these being the principal towns of the county, but the first move will be to build to the larger towns, Jackson and Sutter Creek.
At present the exact route of the road is not known, but surveys will be at work in a week to determine this. No time will be lost in the construction, and the management expects to have the road in operation before November 1st.

D. McCall, of Ione, also has a plan for developing the resources of Amador county. He proposes to float stock in Amador county and to construct a railroad from Sutter Creek to the timber regions in the higher altitudes. There are fine marble quarries in the immense bodies of timber in Amador county which only need transportation facilities in order to give employment to a large number of men.
McCall proposes at present to raise money from among the business men of the county in order to send a committee to the timber region to investigate the amount of timber that can be utilized and what business will be in waiting for the railroad.

While McCall is talking of his project, however, it is seen that the Amador Traction Company asks for a franchise for a railway to Volcano, which town is nearest to the timber region and on the route thereto, being twelve miles distant from Sutter Creek. Evidently the Amador Traction Company intends developing the county also, so between the two schemes the people of the county are hoping for the best.—Sacramento Bee.

In reference to the above, we may state a few facts in regard to this railroad project which have transpired since. The Ledger sincerely hopes that those who are at the front of this proposition mean business; nevertheless we are free to state that the electric railway scheme is not on the upgrade in the estimation of the people hereabouts. H. C. Tilden, Chas. K. Harley and L. Jenks, of San Francisco, arrived in Jackson Friday evening, and on Saturday made an inspection of the route at this end of the proposed line. These are the men who are expected to contribute the money to build the road, and their visit here was for the purpose of satisfying themselves, as far as an actual trip would enable them to form an opinion of the outlook for the enterprise from a business standpoint. They were not communicative as to the details of the road; neither did they seek to find out the sentiment of the business community concerning the project. Jackson Dennis, who is named as general manager of the road, was here a portion of the time. They had a royal good time while here, and on Monday morning departed for the city, leaving Jacksonites little the wiser concerning the railway enterprise, which is believed to be pregnant with so much meaning to them.

On Monday, Ed. Records, of the American River Electric Company, was before the supervisors with an ordinance which had been prepared in the interest of the Amador Traction Company, which he requested the board to pass. The object of the ordinance was to grant a franchise and right of way for a narrow gauge electric railway from Ione to Jackson, Sutter Creek and other towns. Mr. Records was alone in the matter, and seemed to be under the impression that the board would merely have to pass the ordinance the same as an ordinary ordinance, and the thing would be done. But the application for a franchise for a railroad must be published in a daily paper, and sold to the highest bidder after advertised proposals therefor. It is a privilege to be competed for. The clerk was directed by the board to have the advertising done in Stockton, but soon ran up against a snag.

No articles of incorporation have been filed in the clerk's office of Amador county, which is a preliminary step in the formation of a corporation of that kind doing business in this county. Furthermore it is claimed that the board must first pass a resolution authorizing the publication of the application. Finding that the whole thing was in open violation of the county clerk notified the parties that it would be advisable to have an attorney put the matter in proper shape before the supervisors. Nothing is likely to be done until the next regular meeting of the board.

Last Monday Ione mustered a strong delegation before the board of supervisors on the license ordinance question. The valley town seems to have been worked up pro and con on this proposition, to a greater extent than any other section of the county. It was here that the agitation to change the license ordinance was started. Since the new ordinance has been passed the feeling on both sides is very keen. The saloon men were here Monday to urge their side, asking that certain portions of the ordinance be repealed. The objectionable clauses are those requiring the application to be signed by a certain number of property-holders; also the provision relating to publishing the same, and the furnishing of bonds. The other side was represented by Messrs. Mowbray and Winters, both of Ione. It is reported that it is difficult, if not next to impossible, to get signers to a petition for liquor license in Ione, principally because of the fear that the business interests of the signers might suffer in consequence.

Captured in San Francisco.

On the 7th of March a row occurred in the neighborhood of Jackson Gate in which an Italian named Alfred Ridolfi drew a razor upon a brother Italian. Avanzini was arrested in connection with the affair, but Ridolfi, the mainpring of the trouble, thought it advisable to skip out. He was traced by the officers here to Calaveras county, and thence to San Francisco, and the authorities were duly apprised of the fact that the man was wanted in Amador county. Nothing coming of these methods, Sheriff Norman concluded to take a trip to the city himself on this particular mission. Saturday last he posted himself at a corner of Dupont and Broadway, and patiently waited for his man to put in an appearance. Hours passed, but the wanted man failed to materialize. About 5 o'clock in the evening, however, he saw Ridolfi among the passers by, and at once placed him under arrest. At first the prisoner protested that the officer was mistaken, and was inclined to make trouble. Norman, however, told him that it was useless to resist, and displayed a pair of handcuffs, at the sight of which Ridolfi weakened, and agreed to go with him peacefully if the officer would not handcuff him. He was landed in the San Francisco lockup that night, and next morning the sheriff and his prisoner left for Jackson, arriving here that evening. Ridolfi is now in jail, awaiting trial on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The Liquor License Question Postponed.

The following petition was presented to the board of supervisors at the meeting last Monday. J. W. Caldwell represented the petitioners, but in the absence of the district attorney the board deemed it inadvisable to take any decisive action thereon. The matter was postponed until Saturday, April 16th, at which time a special meeting has been called to consider the question. It is expected that the district attorney will then be present.

To the honorable board of supervisors of the county of Amador, state of California:—Whereas, at a meeting of this honorable board, held on the 1st day of February, 1904, ordinance number 115 regulating the liquor business of this county, was passed by this honorable board to go into effect the 1st day of May, 1904.

And whereas when said ordinance was passed, the undersigned liquor dealers and property owners, who are directly affected by the provisions of said ordinance, did not know the provisions thereof, and were not heard at said meeting, and were not aware that said ordinance would have a damaging effect upon their business and property interests, but after due consideration the undersigned are convinced that the said ordinance, if it goes into effect as passed, will work a great hardship upon them, and will be detrimental to their business and property interests, while it will not have the effect it was originally intended to have.

We therefore respectfully petition your honorable board to amend said ordinance by striking out the provisions thereof requiring each applicant for a liquor license to furnish a bond in the sum of $1000, the consent of ten out of 20 freeholders, taxpayers and heads of families nearest his place of business, and the publication of the petition as required by said ordinance. This petition was signed by 113 citizens.

Owen Gillick, who works at the Rancheria mine, met with what might have been a very serious accident had he been standing one inch out of the position he occupied at the time. He and two other men were blasting pine logs with giant powder. After loading and lighting a large stick of timber, they started to a near-by spring to get some drinking water. When about 100 yards distant the blast shattered the timber into splinters. Owen turned to see the effect, when a pine knot coming like a bullet struck him just above the right eye, staggering him for some minutes. He was brought to town, and the doctor found it necessary to take four stitches to close the wound. Gillick says he would rather encounter Tom Sharkey than to come in contact with another pine knot that had recently had a rumper with giant powder.

Mr. Clark reports that the first of April was a gala day at the schoolhouse. All sorts of traps had been set before the arrival of the teacher, but those who set them were glad for an opportunity to spring them unseen. By the noon hour but few of the pupils had escaped the teacher's pitfalls. In the afternoon old "April Fool," accompanied by his foolish old wife, appeared with sacks of apples, garlic, onions, candies, nutshells and other delicacies of the season. The pupils enjoyed every minute of their stay. Before leaving they gave their future address as Onionville, Garlic Co., Fool's Island, and remarked that any communication properly addressed would reach them by the route that all fools travel.

Yachting is now the prevailing pastime in Volcano. During the recent heavy rains the tunnel gate was closed, and the large reservoir becoming filled, the boys conceived the idea of constructing a boat. In less time than it takes to tell, work was begun, and inside of ten hours Boydston, Santifiro, and Leake had completed a boat that would do honor to a young navy yard. Calling sixteen men to assist them they soon had the vessel launched, and manned with an experienced crew. Seven brave men then stepped on board to assist in the christening. Standing near the stern was the tall and stately Mrs. Delucchi. In his right hand he held a bottle of uncorked champagne, and his face betokened the responsibility of his position. Raising his eyes toward heaven he shouted in thunderous tones:

"Ship of the sea,
I christen thee,
The Mary Lee."
"Go down now, or go down never."
At this he drank the champagne and broke the empty bottle on the stern of the boat. She has been tested to her fullest seating capacity, and has proved a worthy craft. S C RIBBLER.

Mrs. Pearce laid the baby on the bed and gave it the bottle to nurse, and left the room for a few minutes. On returning to the room she heard the baby choking, and rushing in found the baby dead. Dr. Frieman of Volcano was called, and said the baby died of heart disease. The baby was buried the following day at 3 o'clock. The roads being impassable it was buried at the place. NOTES FROM THE MINERS

ZEILA.—We were in error last week in saying that the mill was closed down on account of the increased flow of water, incident to the heavy rains, making it impracticable to keep the water down and the mill supplied with rock at the same time. Only twenty stamps out of the 40 were hung up temporarily. The surface water will no doubt rapidly diminish with the advent of fine weather, and the mine running to its full capacity in a few days.

SANDPILE MINE.—Owing to the high water, the cyaniding operations at the Sandpile mine, near Forest Home, were suspended for several days. A report was published in Calaveras that the works had been seriously damaged. This, we are pleased to state, was an exaggeration. The trouble was that on account of the abundance of water it was impracticable to get the auriferous sand to operate the plant, so work was temporarily suspended. One of the employees was seen this week, who had been laid off for this cause. It was expected, however, to resume operations in full force early this week. According to all reports the plant is working successfully, leaving a good margin of profit over all expenses.

MISCELLANEOUS.—The Zeila is running, on account of the increased water to contend with, three engineer shifts of 8 hours each. J. A. Wigglesworth, formerly of the Keystone, is employed as one of the engineers.

The Climax mine, near Clinton, is again running. It was closed for a while on account of the bad roads making it impossible to haul wood to supply the furnace. They have lately secured a supply of fuel, and mine and mill are running with good prospects.

Geo. W. Horn, of the Horn mine at Defender, was in Jackson early this week. He expects to start up the Horn claim in a short time.

At the Del Monte mine in Calaveras county, under the management of Geo. I. Wright of Jackson, the big cross-cut tunnel has been advanced to the 2000-foot limit—where it was expected to encounter the main ledge. At last accounts there was a noticeable increase in the water—which is indicative of a near approach to the ledge.

At the Kennedy mine some anxiety has been caused because of the appearance of some superficial cracks in the drum of the hoisting works of the east shaft. Geo. Ames, a machinist from San Francisco, was here this week as an expert to look into the matter. We are informed that the cracks were declared of little consequence, in no way interfering with the working of the machinery.
